CLAREMORE MOVING HER SKYSCRAPERS, ROGERS REVEALS

(Special To The News)
CLAREMORE, Okla., Sept. 21.— Of all the airports I have been in, Tulsa leads. In fact they lead the entire United States, with 4-500 passengers handled last month.
We are putting in a field here in Claremore, but we have to move it out of the city or twenty blocks of big buildings.
This fellow Vane is going great.
About the only thing can keep him out of the senate is his popularity.
Every farmer in Oklahoma has a picture of the new farm board hung right on their wall,
in between the two mortgages.
Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

PA NEW OBSERVES

School cafeterias are popular here in New Castle. Food is sold at such a low figure that it hardly pays a student to go home at noon. At the George Washington Junior High school it is a fact that only 15 or 20 of the enrollment of 700 or more go home for lunch. These few live near the building and are therefore justified in not dining at school.
At the New Castle post office it is said mail boxes are sometimes used for purposes other than for which they are provided. Recently circulation of a business house were found deposited in many of them. This is prohibited and will bring a penalty.

The jam which ensued following the football game at Franklin Field last evening, has convinced a great number of people of the necessity of the Neshannock viaduct. Had the bridge from Cretton to the North Hill been in place, more than half the automobiles which transported people to and from the game last night, could have used this route and greatly relieved traffic conditions.

The temperature this morning showed that the atmosphere was plenty cool enough for another heavy frost but a stirring breeze which sprang up during the night prevented its formation again as yesterday. The low mark stood at 34 this morning.

It is not believed that there has ever been an event in the city of New Castle that saw such a demand for parking space as the night football game on Friday evening at Franklin field. Cars were parked for blocks in every direction. After the game there was a flood of traffic in every direction for almost an hour. Several thousand spectators at the game last night were from points outside New Castle. It is certain.

Night football is an interesting spectacle and apparently was played by the youths on the field without any handicap. The uniqueness of the spectacle, however, seemed to take some of the interest out of the stands and there was a lack of the spontaneous cheering that is usually evidenced. It is likely that once the novelty of playing the game at night is gone that this feature of fan enthusiasm will be seen.

Arrangements should be made at Franklin field for allowing the spectators to enter the field from more gates. At the opening game last night entry to the field was an exceedingly slow matter when several thousand were lined up outside attempting to get in through the gates that were in use.

New Castle fans left the field last night convinced that the school has the material for making of another fine team this season.

Petition for annexation of a portion of Neshannock township is again before city council. It should be given merited consideration.

Tomorrow will be one of the best fall days for motoring according to all forecasts. Lookout for safety first.

With Franklin field brilliantly lighted as was the case last night, it

ing are as follows:

Night Football Draws Big Crowd To Opening Game

Twelve Thousand Fans See Inauguration Of New Plan Here

MANY CITIES SEND SCOUTS TO SCENE

Probably Will Be Adopted
By Other Cities In This District Shortly

Bathed in a flood of light,
on a field banked solidly around with a mass of humanity, football made its 1929 debut Friday evening on Franklin Field when Joe Hartman's Grove City team met the New Castle High School team.

First Night Game
Not only was it the opening game of football in New Castle for the season, but it was the first game ever played in this section of the United States by electric light. For the opening, the setting was perfect. One imagined himself back in old Rome.
If you can think of the Colosseum lighted by electricity, but instead of gaily caparisoned steeds thundering around a track with chariots behind them, twenty two husky young Americans thundered down the field, with always one of them with a white football tucked under his arm.

Weirdly Beautiful
The scene was a weirdly beautiful
one. Down below, a huge rectangle of light, illumined by huge reflectors hung at the top of ten very high poles. On the sides and at the ends, the crowd surging, cheering, vocal,
mass of humanity, 12,000 at least and probably 15,000 more than that, out for the premiere of the football season.

Had the evening been made to order it could not have been more perfect. The cold snap seemed to moderate somewhat, there was no wind, and to the brilliancy of the flood-lights was added the effulgence of a silver moon that seemed to hang lower than usual, that the Man in the Moon might have a closer view of the struggle.

One Of Biggest Crowds Without any question, it was the greatest crowd ever attending an opening football game in New Castle.
Indeed it was one of the biggest crowds ever at Franklin Field, for it compared with the Beaver Falls crowd last season, with Jeannette a few years ago, or with Harrisburg Tech.
And if the weather holds out next Friday night for the game with Rayen High School of Youngstown, you had better get in about Thursday afternoon for the stadium is never going to hold them all.

Hundreds Of Visitors
Nor was the crowd all from New Castle and Grove City. Youngstown had a crowd over, many came down from Sharon, the Beaver Valley had an old home week, and from Pittsburgh, from Oil City and other points
the visitors were there in throngs.
The entire effect, splendid as it

Hoover Will Keep Silence

President To Say Nothing More On Pending Tariff Bill

WILL SHOW STAND
WHEN BILL PASSES

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.— President Hoover is not going to have anything more to say about the tariff until a tariff bill is passed by congress and laid on his desk, it was definitely stated
at the white house today.

Mr. Hoover was pointed out, made known his tariff views in his inauguration address, advocating a limited revision of schedules with special attention to agriculture.
In spite of complaints from several senators against his silence, since inaugural day, the president took no further statement from him is necessary.

THREE SEVENTH WARD HOMES ARE BURGLARIZED

Three Seventh Ward homes were entered and an attempt was made to enter the fourth residence in that section of the city, some time after last midnight.

Entrance was effected through windows, which had been left unlocked. A small amount of money was secured in two homes. Nothing of value is missing in the other places.

The places entered were those of
D. A. Pitzer, 601 Lafayette street; Thomas Foster, 414 Sixth street and
W. J. Miller, 611 Ashland avenue, while the attempt to enter was made at the home of Frank Smith, 612 Ashland avenue.
At the Pitzer home entrance was effected through a rear window that had been left unlocked. The downstairs was ransacked, but the robbers did not get upstairs. Nothing is missing.

Entrance at the Foster home was gained through a side window, which had been left unlocked. The home was ransacked and a black handbag containing a small pocketbook in which there was $3 was taken.
At the Miller home entrance was again effected through a rear window that was unlocked and the downstairs ransacked. Approximately $4.50 was taken. Matches were evidently used for lighting purposes, as a number of burned matches were found lying about the floor.

The attempt to get into the Smith home was at a side window but proved unsuccessful. Entrance was not accomplished and nothing was missing.
Thompson and McKillen investigated
the robbery at the Miller home, while Detective John Young and Officers Lynch and Longstreth checked up on all the places today.

ASSASSINATION OF ARTIST BAFFLES PHILADELPHIA POLICE

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 21.—Police were no nearer a solution of the mystery surrounding the murder of Frank Reed Whiteside, 63 year old landscape artist, today than they were a few minutes after the tragedy occurred.
First fliers were sent out for a shabbily dressed stranger reported to have been seen emerging from the quiet street where the painter lived in his little home. Later in the day frantic patrolmen and detectives found a bunch of keys in a cellarway near the scene of the crime, one of which fitted Whiteside's door. A mil-man also told of seeing the artist in angry conversation with a younger man in front of the Reading railway station here on the afternoon of the night of the murder.

Whiteside was shot down on the doorstep of his home when he answered a pull of his doorbell at 10:10 o'clock Thursday night. His wife and only daughter were away at the time.
The three meager clues are all that police have been able to uncover that may possibly throw any light on the murder. Detectives frankly admit they are baffled. No motive for his murder can be found.

High School Band
Is Coming Along

Organization Makes First Appearance Under New Director

There were plenty of features at the New Castle-Grove City football game Friday night on Franklin field, but one of the features, the senior high school band, deserves a paragraph of its own.

It was Joseph Replogle's first introduction to New Castle crowds, for Mr.
Replogle is the new director of instrumental music for the New Castle schools.

He came here with the reputation of being a skilled band director. He proved it last night with the band's performance, for it sounded as good as though it were a professional.
One thing seems to be promised this year and that is a good band for football games. It means a lot to the color and spectacle of the game to have a real band down in front blar-ning out and Replogle seems to have what is necessary.

Now if some song leader would just get the crowd singing popular numbers before the game the color would be heightened.

Detroit Disaster Costing 20 Lives Is Being Probed

Six Separate Investigations Are Under Way Into Club Fire

CABARET OWNERS
IN POLICE CUSTODY

No Fire Escapes On Building
—Small Blaze Started
Panic In Dance Hall

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
DETROIT, Sept. 21.—With the death of two more persons in hospitals, the toll of the Study Club fire disaster reached 20 today.
Mrs. Alfred Snyder, 28, of Montreal, and Roland Lowe, 39, of Detroit, were the latest to die of injuries suffered when more than 200 persons stampeded as quick, fatal fire swept the downtown cabaret early Friday.
Mrs. Snyder's husband, who was also injured, is still in Receiving hospital, where both his wife and Lowe died today. Mrs. Snyder's death brought the list of women victims to 10, the same as the toll of men victims.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 21.—
Six separate investigations
were launched today to place criminal responsibility for the fire which early yesterday transformed The Study Club into a roaring furnace, killing eighteen men and women dancers and injuring 49 others, some of whom are expected to die hourly.

Prosecuting Attorney James E.
Chenot announced that his office not only would seek to place criminal responsibility for the tragedy, but would also hold the proprietor to account for allowing the night club to operate without adequate fire protection.

No Fire Escapes
Marty Cohen and Robert Jackson, proprietor and master of ceremonies
at the club were taken into custody of the police.
One official said:
"Cohen tells us he was ordered to install fire escapes nine months ago and although he intended to do so, never did."

Cohen was ordered held until a full investigation was completed.
Meanwhile Detective Inspector Henry Garvin, after a day of investigation and questioning of witnesses, tentatively placed the blame for the tragedy on a cloak room girl said to have thrown the front door open when the first small blaze was reported to her. A draft from the open door caused the flames to spread so rapidly that all escape was cut off, Garvin said.

Starts From Small Blaze
The small blaze caused by a match or cigar smoldering in a curtain changed in a twinkling to a pillar

Retires After 57 Years In Service Of B. & O. Co.

F. M. Mantz, of 1007 Winslow avenue, well known resident of this city, who on Wednesday, September 4, completed fifty-seven years as an employee of the Baltimore and Ohio Railway System and was placed on the honor roll of that system, was last evening fittingly remembered by his fellow employees in New Castle at his home.

About eight o'clock a number of persons representing the various departments of the Baltimore and Ohio activities at New Castle gathered at the home of Mr. Mantz, the affair being a surprise to him.

Those in the party consisted of S.
H. Rhodes, agent at New Castle, A.
C. Wilcox, agent at New Castle Junction and wife, Mrs. Bessie Miller of the agent's office, J. H. Hossler, ticket agent at Mahoningtown, Karl Wright, lieutenant of police, W. B. Parks of the Round House, Gus Hammer, representing the Veterans Association, W.
L. C. Mantz, son of the man honored and J. H. Smith, weighmas-ter.

The evening was spent in a pleasant social manner, during which Mr.
Mantz related some of his experiences in the fifty-seven years that he had been employed on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

QUEEN IMAIM REIGNS IN WEST

Lurian Amankho really isn't some wild, mysterious country of which Miss Maurice Spauldy has been made queen. If you will look closely you will see it is Miami, Okla., spelled backwards. The festival is an annual affair.

D. S. C. Is Presented To George L. Smith For War Heroism

Two men faced each other in the dining room of the Elk's Home Friday, September 20th at noon. One of them was a grizzled veteran of many campaigns under the American flag.
On his shoulders were the silver tassels of a colonel. On his breast were the bars and ribbons symbolic of his service. On his face were the lines and the tan stonched there by the suns of many countries where he had served.

The other man was a civilian, a modest appearing chap, who smoked of debts and credits, of invoices and merchandise, rather than of the field of battle and of valorous deeds. And yet the uniformed man, Colonel Thomas Anderson, faced the civilian, George L. Smith, because of the gallantry under fire displayed by Smith
at Gesnes, France, October 11, 1918.

Impressive Service
It was an impressive service and it made itself felt with the group of ex-service men who sat around the tables.
To be present and witness their friend decorated with the Distinguished Service Cross was an event that will be remembered by them. To Smith it must have been an occasion that will be indelibly impressed in his mind for the rest of his life. His government and his president had seen fit to decorate him with the Distinguished Service Cross for his service under the flag.

Dr. W. Fulton Jackson opened the meeting, following the lunch, and introduced Attorney Walter W. Braham
as the toastmaster of the day. Mr.
Braham spoke but briefly, preferring to give as much time as possible to the guest of honor, Colonel Thomas
M. Anderson, chief of staff of the 99th Division.

Soldier that is Colonel Anderson wasted little time in getting to the point of his mission. "This is an unusual event," said he. "One in which I am proud to have a part, for it is the public recognition of the gallantry of one of your fellow townsmen, George L. Smith. The President and the Secretary of War have commissioned me to come out to New Castle to pin upon Mr. Smith the Distinguished Service Cross. There are

Earthquakes In Honolulu

(BULLETIN)
HONOLULU, T. H. Sept. 21.—Several local earthquakes in the North Kona district of Hawaii led to the belief today that Mount Hualalai, volcanic peak, might erupt.
Hualalai has been dormant since 1801. Calliclemen in the sparsely settled area were preparing to move their stock and goods in case of an outbreak. Seismologists said the temblors might mean an eruption depending on whether the disturbances continue or not.

DEATH RECORD

Albert Johnston, 50, Bessemer.

Body Of Man Is Found Lying In Hickory Creek

Remains Of Alfred Johnson
Found By H. T. Evans
While Hunting
Mushrooms

SUPPOSED TO HAVE FALLEN IN STREAM

Victim Was Resident Of Bessemer District And Lived Alone In Shanty

While hunting mushrooms along Hickory Creek near the Goldendale creamery at Bessemer this morning, H. T. Evans discovered the body of a man lying in the creek. Mr.
Evans called the sheriff's office and Deputy Sheriff William Reynolds and Coroner J.
P. Caldwell responded.

Arriving at Bessemer they were taken by Mr. Evans to where the body was found. The body, attired in a black suit, was lying face downward in the stream. The creek at this point was only about ten feet wide.
The body was lying in a pool from 12 to 18 inches deep. There was a barometer fence crossing the stream at the edge of the pool.

Recognize Body
A plank was secured and thrown across the creek alongside the body, which was then turned over, face upward. Several persons who had accompanied the deputy sheriff and coroner, recognized the body as that of Alfred Johnson, aged about 50 years.

There was blood on his neck, and it was thought at first that he had been shot or stabbed, but when the blood was washed off it was found that it had exuded from a scratch, evidently made by striking the barometer fence in falling.

Johnson, who is single, lived in a shanty near the place where his body was found. He had been seen in Bessemer yesterday, according to reports.
The indications were that he had fallen into the creek on his way home as night. There was a drop of about two feet from the east bank of the creek into the pool, and it is believed that Johnson had stumbled down this bank into the water and drowned.

Employed In Quarry
Johnson had been employed in the quarries around Bessemer for a number of years. He is said to have an aunt residing in Bessemer. An underwriter was summoned and the body removed to the Mahoning Undertaking rooms.

New Evidence Delays Probe Of Mob Murder

(International News Service)
COURT ROOM, GASTONIA, N. C., Sept. 21.—Newly discovered evidence described as "startling" today resulted in a half-week's postponement of the inquest into the Gastonia mob murder.

The inquiry today was continued
until Wednesday by Solicitor John G.
Campbell.

It was explained that considerable new evidence in the murder of Mrs.
Ellie May Higgins, 30 year old Textile striker and a mother of five young children, has been unearthed within the past few days.
The nature of the freshly found evidence was not disclosed.

suggests the possibility of using the field for other programs than football. Most any kind of a program that required a large area for the performance, or required mass formation would have plenty of room.

The crowd at the game last night certainly was an indication of the popular hold that sport has on the populace. PA Newscast readily suggests any other kind of a program that would draw such a crowd to the stadium.

New Castle high school senior band made its initial appearance at the game last night, for the present year. Under the new leader Joseph Replogle, the band seems to be making good progress, and it is expected that this organization will again take its place as a leader of Western Pennsylvania school bands.

A crowd of Greensburg football fans here last night kept the pedestrians gazing by giving the Greensburg rah-rah. They showed a lot of "pep" as their car swept through the streets.

Corporal Kettner, of the State highway patrol, has resigned, it is said. While here the corporal was on the job and was a courteous, efficient patrolman. He goes to Grove City police force.

PAYS SPEEDING FINE.
Gerald Ammons caught speeding on West Washington street by Motorcycle Officer Richards, paid a fine of $10 when he appeared in police court.

several years of bestowing this honor.

Marched Before Troops
"Wherever a man is in service he is brought out before the troops and a parade held for him. If he is close to garrison, the battalion is paraded before him. Where this is not practical, an officer is commissioned to go to his home city and make the award publicly. This is my pleasant duty today."

Colonel Anderson then read the citation, authorizing the cross, and as he finished, pinned the medal on the lapel of Mr. Smith's coat. As he did so the ex-service men there, arose and applauded for several minutes. It was a tribute that was sincere, one that a governor or a president himself might be proud of and if perhaps a little emotion crept across Smith's face, it was not unnatural.

Mr. Smith is a druggist in New Castle, his place of business being on South Mill street. He is a member of the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars and as a tribute to their comrades, the Harry L. McBride Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars had their flag present.

The citation of the United States War Department, which authorizes the Distinguished Service Cross to Mr. Smith follows:

George L. Smith (Army serial No. 3626764), formerly private. Medical Detachment, 125th Infantry, 32nd Division, American Expeditionary Forces. For extraordinary heroism in action north-east of Genes, France, October 21, 1918. Pvt. Smith established a collecting point for the wounded in the valley north of Hill 258, during the attack of his battalion. The unit on the right which was being subjected to an extremely heavy machine-gun fire from the enemy, was unable to advance, thus exposing the right flank of his battalion to a severe machine-gun fire. The terrain afforded no protection to anyone attempting to cross and a runner while attempting to cross this terrain was severely wounded, falling in an exposed position. Pvt. Smith, with splendid heroism and courage dashed across the exposed area and carried his wounded comrade to our lines and rendered first aid.

With Colonel Anderson were Major Blauvelt and Captain Moore, also of the 95th Division.

was, might easily have been spoiled but it wasn't. The weather might have been bad, the lights might have failed to function properly, the teams might have been confused by the odd sensation of playing under artificial light. None of these things happened, and from an advertising standpoint for New Castle, from a point of view leaning towards showmanship and the spectacular, it was a triple-plated success.

None of the fans had ever seen a night football game. Whether or not it would work was a question in their minds. From questioning of fans after the game, the only criticism seemed to be that the faces of the players were not very plain, but this is also true on a muddy afternoon.

The effect of watching a night football game is that of sitting in a huge open air amphitheatre. The stage, or the gridiron is flooded with light, while the spectators are sitting in a semi-circular stand, with enough light to permit ingress and egress, but not enough to permit reading a newspaper. And anyway who wants to read a newspaper at a football game.

Traffic Jams.
Early in the evening the crowd began wending its way to the stadium. At 7 o'clock there were several hundred inside, at 7:30 it began to look like a sea, and at 8:15 there was a swirling, surging mob around the entrances that defied policemen, guards and what not. It would have taken a regiment of Marines to straighten out that massing of humanity, but by the time the game was under way a few minutes, the crowd was in and seated.

From Washington street down to Old Pollock avenue, and from Long avenue over to Taylor street was jammed and packed with automobiles. Spectators came in by degrees, but they all wanted out at the same time. The resultant traffic jam was one of the worst ever seen here. At Lutton and East Washington, at Lutton and East Washington, at Cunningham and Lutton, at Lutton and Mill and at Taylor and Mill cars were locked, and the repair men are having a field day today, straightening out damaged fenders.

With the first game, the experimental one, out of the way, the athletic council will have to provide more entrances for the fans. Next Friday night's game is going to be a supreme test.

However this article deals not with next Friday's game but with last night's game, the opening of the 1929 season. It was a good game, a fine night, and a big crowd. The electric lights proved to be successful for night football, and once again New Castle has taken the lead in an experiment that has been debated by other cities but never tried. After last night's venture, it seems certain that night football will be inaugurated in this section of Pennsylvania, by other cities.

tend a dinner in honor of them given by Miss Esther Trumbull, cousin of the bride. There will be eighteen young people present.

John Coolidge reported for work in New Haven as usual today in the railroad offices where he is employed. How much of his thoughts were on his work is problematical.

They gave young Coolidge a bachelor dinner last evening at the Elm Tree Inn in Farmington. Among those attending were Stephen Brown, of Northampton, Mass., who went to Amherst College with John and is to be his best man, and three of the ushers, Richard Brown, of Northampton, Philip Morehouse, of Brooklyn, and Pierce U. Clark, of Plainville.

The party was reported as being absolutely "dry," although there was plenty of singing, toasting and kindly raillery.

DETROIT DISASTER COSTING 20 LIVES IS BEING PROBED

of flame that swept up the main stairway to the crowded dining room above, consuming rugs, hangings and woodwork and gaining in ferocity.

Two hundred men and women were in the dining room dancing, drinking and making merry. At the first wisp of flame they became panic-stricken and stampeded, screaming, cursing, fighting and trampling one another. Few were burned in comparison to the scores who were bruised, battered and overcome by smoke and fumes.

"The public was invited to enter the Study Club when four city departments granted licenses for it to operate," Chenot said in his statement.

"This office will seek to place responsibility for allowing such a place to operate. I have ordered the police to keep everybody away from the club and also to take photographs of the interior and exterior of the building."

"We are taking statements of the living victims. It is a mass of horror that we are compiling. The public will know all the facts as soon as all the living victims have been interviewed," he concluded.

Four Departments Involved

Four city departments involved in the probe are the recreation commissioner, the police department, the building department and the fire commission.

There were two exits from the dining room of the night club, doors side by side. The entertainers used the crowd, ignorant where the path to safety lay, pushed and shoved to get to that side of the room where the narrow dressing room was located.

In this room scores of the dancers rushed in their effort to escape the flames. Inside the room the rush centered at an iron sashed window opening outward. Firemen and rescuers when they penetrated the blazing room a few minutes later, found thirty-five persons some of them dead or dying, jammed in an inextricable heap. Dead and dying were crushed against the smoldering walls.

Eventually the room yielded the bodies of sixteen victims. Two others died at receiving hospital and were added to the list. Forty-five others were taken to hospitals and treated for burns, cuts and fractured bones.

Investigation, begun almost immediately disclosed stories of the living held in the vise-like grip of those who had died.

There were a series of men and women, reverting to the primitive fighting each other and trampling one another in their efforts to reach the outside. There were also stories of a few successful ones who fought and clawed their way to the two or three windows and hurled themselves out only to fall on the concrete pavement below.

The ten men and eight women known to have died in the blaze were: Luther, Lawrence, 49, Detroit.

Smith, H. B. 45, Detroit.
Farker, Mrs. John, 42, Detroit.
Kelly, Bertha, 27, mother of two children, Detroit.

THE PLANET URANUS
By Arthur DeV. Carpenter
Sir William Herschel was the astronomer who discovered the planet Uranus, in the year 1781. The discovery was incidental to a general surveying of the heavens with the telescope. The diameter of Uranus is 32,400 miles. Being so remote from the sun, its disk is not so bright as that of Jupiter or Saturn. Its disk is much flattened at the pole, indicating that its rotation is rapid. It has no distinct markings by which to determine its velocity of rotation, but Lowell observatory, applying the spectroscopic method, found that it completes a rotation in 10 3/4 hours. The period of its orbit is 84.01 years. (More Monday)

Another Biggest Bank.
Poor Broker—Sold Short.
The Grandeur Film.

Again, "The world's biggest bank" makes its bow, bigger than any thus far. Charles E. Mitchell, head of New York's National City Bank, absorbs the Corn Exchange Bank, creating an institution with resources of two thousand five hundred millions of dollars.

This one financial giant will have 100 branch banks in New York. The old-fashioned million has given away to the new "billion."

When will the TRILLION be transferred from books on astronomy to the books of United States bankers.

In Wall Street a broker has closed up. His story is sad and brief. HE SOLD SHORT.

And, most strange, he sold bank stocks short.

To "short" a bank stock with banks getting from 10 to 20 per cent for money on call, calls for an investigation in lunacy.

William Fox's new "grandeur" film, showing moving and talking pictures on a screen of gigantic size, now seen in New York, is a most important contribution to the motion picture art and industry.

Mr. Fox is to be congratulated upon an achievement most remarkable and beautiful, combining with perfect sound, a screen that makes it possible to show the falls of Niagara, the rapids below and the Maid of the Mist, all at one time.

This new Fox moving picture, developing motion, depth, size and sound on a scale hitherto undreamed of, is a most remarkable achievement.

The German Kaiser said women should attend to their three K's, kitchen, kucche, kirche, "children, kitchen, church." He will be surprised to read the statistics about working people in Britain.

Among those that work from ages 15 and 55, there are 1,500,000 more women than men.

Britain is disturbed because the nation seems to have reached the "stationary point in population."

No wonder. The same animal cannot be a good brood mare and a good cart horse.

Science says old age is really an illness, not inevitable. Age is called "progressive condensation of tissue due to loss of water."

Energy that age lacks is located in the ductless glands. When your own glands wear out some of them, including some of the most important, can be rejuvenated.

A young pupil of Steinhilber in Vienna has restored youth and the "desire to whistle and sing" in 700 old men.

London's World League for Sexual Reform is much interested in the fact that when the time comes they can die in peace and start again.

The Prince of Wales buys his first airplane, making his first flight as an owner, to see his father at Sandringham. It is a G. H. Gypsy Moth, price only $3,300.

The Prince would not buy anything but "pure British." The little Moth makes 90 miles an hour, is painted bright red and blue, and carries a silver plate marked "H. R. H. the Prince of Wales."

The little machine with aluminum nose is upholstered in scarlet leather, which can be inflated to avoid bumps.

The horse is following the Red Indian. On October first, the New York Evening Journal, that has used thousands of horses for delivery, closes its stable. Only motor trucks hereafter.

The Evening Journal, having for 30 years more than double the circulation of any other evening newspaper in New York, believed that horses were needed for frequent, short stops and starts at every corner. But no more horse. The motor can do everything.

William Robinson, British, registers the birth of his fourth child, only one sex of twins among them. His first wife had 24 children; the second had six. Needless to say Mr. Robinson is very proud of himself. Of the mothers, one is dead, and the other too busy to tell how she feels.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

TWO LIVES
One thought that life should happy be.
And sought to deduce its care;
Another down the years could see
The sorrows waiting there.

The light of heart went dancing on,
And gave no thought to pain.
Since her bright sun shined upon,
Why should she think of rain?

One built a stronghold for her grief,
A shelter for her tears,
And found a refuge in belief
From all her doubts and fears.

Both suffered anguish and despair,
For both was life the same.
But she who had not planned for care
Was helpless when it came.

"Is it? Tell me anything that goes more quickly."

Sun sets tonight 6:00. Sun rises tomorrow 5:47.

A friend of ours from Hog Hollow said yesterday that he had never heard of a woman being a better mother by learning to smoke.

The word "Doublecross" is heard more just after an election than at any other time during the year. And only a single cross is used after every name on the ballot at that so it doesn't mean the ballot, but those who mark it.

YOUR GARDEN AND MINE
Have you seen tall larkspur
With rosy hollyhocks?
Or purple vines, half folded,
Of lilies in floods?
Do you know the arrow sweet,
Of honeysuckle bloom?
Have you seen old apple trees
Weave color on a loom?

Though the walls be high about them,
Your garden blooms for me,
I have seen your hollyhock,
Cut like a little tree,
I know the way the birds go
To pools I have not seen.
You know how the bees come
The high blue way between A garden and a garden.
Wherever it may be,
Because I love a garden
Your garden blooms for me!

Have you yellow marigolds,
Vivid, pungent, strong?
Goldfinches will find them.
With a lovely song,
I have little clove pinks,
Spurdy, fringed and gay,
And the golden bees come
A long, long way.

Dear Fred: It may be a comfort to superstitious people to read this clipping from my scrapbook.

ABOUT FRIDAY
In view of the fact that Friday is always considered an unlucky day, a few of the "lucky" and happy events which have taken place on that day are given here.

George Washington was born on Friday.

America was discovered on Friday. Shakespeare was born on Friday.

The Bastille was destroyed on Friday.

The Mayflower Pilgrims landed on Friday.

The battle of New Orleans was fought on Friday.

The Declaration of Independence was signed on Friday.

(I hope some of these things happened on Friday, the 13th, so that hoodoo can be dispensed with, also.)

ZUELLA.

We heard some chaps arguing or rather advocating the playing of football on Sundays, and some said it should be played at eleven o'clock in the morning so the Sunday school scholars could attend. Maybe they mean the men's Bible classes.

THE FREE HORSE RIDDEN TOO HARD MUST DESPISE THE RIDER.

A young man who was respected by the community went away without the formality of farewells and left his wife to fend for herself.

Without waiting to hear his side of the story or look for an explanation the community reversed its opinion and expressed frank contempt.

That is the usual public reaction in America for we are a people ruled by sentiment rather than reason and our training in the niceties of chivalry prompts us to blame the man and excuse the woman.

But a violent effect indicates a violent cause and a man who is decent and "square" does not become a violator of contracts and a shirker of duty without reason.

In any community in America the student of our times will find numerous young husbands who have sufficient reason to resent the bonds that hold them.

Their wives are useless, clothes racks, lazy, spoiled and selfish burdens who take all they can get and give nothing in return.

They have no children; they have little work to do; they have no sense of obligation or duty.

They get dinner with a can opener, or slice a few olives and spread a little mayonnaise or go to a restaurant—net because they cannot learn to cook but because they are too indolent to do any work that can be avoided.

By no stretch of the imagination can they be called a help to their husbands. They are an expense and a handicap—nothing more.

And the unfortunate man tied to a woman of that kind must at times say to himself: "What do I get out of it?" What return does she make for the money she costs me? I was far better off without her.

He is speaking the literal and exact truth. He is working to support a shallow and selfish woman who hasn't character enough to realize that she is in honor bound to make a fair return for all he gives her.

Of course he is bitter. Doubtless he makes complaints. And doubtless she, being incapable of a fair or unselfish thought, resents his complaining and retorts by making "his home life a bedlam."

Why does he endure it? Because he has standards of civility. Life has cheated him; he is hooked. But a man's part is to endure and to do his duty, hiding his hurts and his shame to protect the fair name of the woman.

Those who labor to preserve the institution of marriage should give us a new definition of civility and teach the doctrine of fair play.

It isn't a kindness to give an infant sufficient candy to make it sick.

If hard knocks are essential to the building of character it is the business of civility to provide the hard knocks.

Just because some people think a thing is right and true is not always a good reason that it is so. It is because people do not know the facts about these things and they think they are all right because they think they ought to be. ## Theory Of Feminized America Universally Scouted By Press

One Feature Of Prof. Robert E. Rogers' Criticism Of Modern Life Draws Prompt And Vigorous Dissent

Newspaper opinion does not agree at all with the theory of Prof. Robert E. Rogers of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology that America has been feminized through women school teachers. The professor advanced the idea in a recent address on some general shortcomings of the times.

"If the Americans of today are the product of 50 years of feminine teaching, the honest prayer should be for many centuries more of such guidance," declares the BOSTON DAILY NEWS. "The CHICAGO DAILY NEWS holds that the professor 'offers no proof whatever of the assertion that the American public is incapable of political and philosophical thought,' and that 'the history of the United States is not a history of a people incapable of thought.'"

The Daily News adds: "The fruits of feminine thinking are not at all bad. Certainly such thinking is preferable to 'no thinking at all.'"

Of course, says the ALBANY EVENING NEWS, "we have mostly women as teachers in schools, and we may, as children, have come somewhat to feminine ways of thinking. But surely it has done us no harm as a people. We have had the same influence from our mothers. No doubt we have had that influence from feminine influence has not been to our disadvantage. Nor are we feminine." "If feminine teaching has produced the men who are still making America, then it would best go on."

"The impressive point" according to the INDIANAPOLIS NEWS "is that boys may be benefiting less under the present system than girls. In a system employing an overwhelming preponderance of male teachers, girls would run the same risk. But the final test is in the product, and it does not appear that American men are conspicuously inferior to the men of other countries in distinctly masculine fields of endeavor, or that American women fail in any way measurement of women in their great spheres of activity, motherhood and homemaking."

Having spent such pains in skillful analysis of many changing conditions of the world today—proving conclusively, if the process is sound, that many of the fundamental philosophical and ethical traditions of our society are in a state of transition," remarks the BOSTON TRANSCRIPT.

Prof. Rogers turns suddenly upon women teachers, and would have one believe that in the pedagogic field the female half of society is alone to blame. Even as an argumentative matter, this will never do. It seems to us quite preposterous in the course of a case which runs, if it runs at all, against society as a whole, suddenly to single out one part of the whole and fix all guilt upon it.

Taking a stand more favorable to the logic of the Massachusetts speaker, the BROOKLYN DAILY EAGLE observes: "It is just possible that if equal pay were to be gotten out of the way and men employed for all teaching of boys from the beginning of adolescence at least to attract the 'feminizing' of America might be gradually checked. Not merely schools, but churches, music, art, literature, have left the feminizing trend. But that our boys have lost either courage or stamina from it is a proposition that intelligent students of the World War will be inclined to deny without qualification."

Replying to the statement that "our thinking of females thinking of us" is the national thinking of the country inspired by the leadership of women? Or is it done by a handful of shrewd male politicians?

several million feminist leaders and followers, it must be true.

Facts do not bear out the professor's assertion that our young people are growing up uninterested in science and progress," declares the SCHENECTADY GAZETTE. "On the contrary, they are eager to try their wings, literally as well as figuratively, and no one can say that they lack courage. As for lack of virility through being taught of women, have not our greatest men rulers, scientists, poets, workers and dreamers, boasted they learned the rudiments of all that they held holy and of good import at the mother's knee?"

It was to be impossible perhaps to protect the designs—but it would be just and decent to protect the name Navajo on jewelry just as Sterling is protected.

One of the most interesting pueblos in New Mexico is at San Domingo. They have a serious little Roman Catholic Church, decorated by the figures of the most amazing angels in flaming colors.

Leaving within a few miles of Santa Fe, he goes on in this adobe village just about as it did at the time of the Spanish conquest.

All of the Pueblo Indians have been wise enough to realize that their only defense against being submerged in the white invasion is to cling blindly to their old faith and their old ways. They are getting tired of tourists, whom they despise.

The tourists, when they nearly mobbed the other day when they walked into the yard of the San Domingo Church, an old man with calico pants and a piece of stone shell hanging from his weathered neck like an order of nobility demanded savagely: "What you do?" He was mollified by a gift of 30 cents—thirty pieces of silver, as it were.

Another gentleman, with crossed eyes and calico pants came running up and said the 30 cents should have been paid to him.

The visitors decided that it was time for government intervention and asked to see the Governor.

They found him working with a pick and shovel on a ditch—the first Governor probably ever found so employed. He was enormously tall with small delicate hands. He beamed when he found the visitors were newspaper men, but intimated delicately that he could use some clean-up.

An insight on Faith—Jesus looked up and saw the rich men casting their gifts into the treasury. And he saw also a certain poor widow casting in rather two mites. And he said, Of a truth I say unto you, that this poor widow hath cast in more than they all. For all these have of their abundance cast in unto the offerings of God; but she of her penury hath cast in all the living that she had—Luke 21: 1, 2, 3, 4.

Escapes In Bandit Car, After Three Other Members Of Gang Are Captured

LOCK HAVEN, Pa., Sept. 21.—Search for the son of M. Kline of Clearfield entered today in Schreyer Armstrong county, on road from two of the Beach Creek bandits that he was due to report them.

The elder Kline, injured when the machine crashed in which he and two others were escaping, after taking $12,000 from the Beach Creek bank, was in a hospital here. Raymond Shope of Schreyer, was held in the county jail. The body of William Delaney, also of Schreyer, fatally hurt in the smashed bandit car, was held here.

Questioning the two bandits held, police learned the robbery was planned while Shope and Delaney were in the Western Penitentiary. Kline is the brother-in-law of Shope.

Young Kline escaped in the machine used by the bandits before they held up Milton Stynes and took his car. While escaping the bandits were forced to turn from the road when pursuers waiting for them at a cross road opened fire. The money was recovered.

Kline first gave his name as Kinley but later admitted his real identity.

The suit brought by Margaret Heinzelman and her husband, Charles Heinzelman, of Pittsburgh, grew out of a divorce suit filed here June 1, 1925. Margaret charges that her husband's infidelity was the cause of the divorce. She claims that the defendant's car ran into the Steinhauser machine, which had stopped at a street crossing because of a red light.

Attorney Harry Applestein represents the plaintiffs.

PEACOCK TRIAL DEVELOPS INTO COMPLEX CASE

been in jail for four months and there is no telling when she will get out. She is branded as the "nihilist girl" in the Peacock case.

Even more pathetic is Mrs. Adelaide Heinzelman, the frail mother of the slain Dorothy Peacock. Terrible enough to have her daughter killed as she was, but now the mother finds herself in the position of having to take the stand and fight with every fiber of her being to refute implications that her Dorothy was anything but a good girl.

Mrs. Newman, a Broadway dance hall hostess, where she met Peacock, has told her story in all its dramatic details. Mrs. Heinzelman is in the midst of hers. She will resume the stand on Monday for further cross-examination. There was no session of court today.

Pathetic Figures.

There are other pathetic figures, of course—Peacock's bewildered mother who sits by his side in court each day and Dorothy's sad-faced father who seems to be in a daze. But for the purposes of this article, Frances Newman and Mrs. Heinzelman are enough.

Frances isn't what is generally regarded as a "good girl" but she isn't as bad a girl as the defense has portrayed her. She was just one of those Broadway dance hall hostesses who liked a good time and wasn't any too careful. She met Peacock when he and his wife had parted. He came into the dance hall where she fox trotted at ten cents a fox trot and they "stepped a few" while the jazz band blared. They became chummy and afterward he took her to Child's for a feed and then to his room. That was the start.

Well, they became sort of pals after that, even though "Willie" didn't like the idea of Frances going out with other fellows. "Willie" was Willie Frances explained that "Willie" was the boy friend whom I used to live with. If Frances had any father or mother, or any other boy friends besides "Willie," she didn't mention them.

Cheating Himself. Peacock evidently knew his way around. He had been accusing Dorothy of "running around" with other men in New York but at the same time was doing a little "cheating" himself. On numerous occasions he took Frances to the Peacock apartment in Mount Vernon.

Now, Frances wasn't like some of the girls on Broadway. She wasn't a "gold digger." With emphasis, she denied that Peacock had ever given her a cent. She was one of those girls who can be satisfied with a little. For example, while Dorothy thought the Peacock home in Mount Vernon was "an old dump," Frances thought it was "grand," with the emphasis on the grand. There was something pathetic about Frances as she testified.

The only things that Peacock ever gave her were some of Dorothy's clothing which he took out of her hope chest and a string of beads. He bought her a feed now and then. And he was a nice fellow.

Peacock had often talked of Dorothy to her. Once he told her, she said, that Dorothy was "living in New York with two men," and exclaimed: "If I ever get her, I'll finish them both."

Frances didn't know what he meant by "both" but presumed he meant Dorothy and whoever she happened to be with.

The state contends that this testimony clinches their claim that the crime was premeditated.

Mrs. Heinzelman, a slender pale-faced woman in black, presented quite a contrast to Frances when she was on the stand. She, too, told of a threat made against her daughter by Peacock.

"I know where Dorothy is living in New York and I'm going to shoot the place up," she quoted Peacock as saying.

Mrs. Heinzelman insisted she did not know why Peacock and Dorothy had parted. Asked by defense counsel if they had separated because Peacock thought Dorothy was staying out nights with other men, the mother exclaimed:

"That wasn't true. She wasn't."

The names of four men were mentioned to Mrs. Heinzelman and she was asked if Dorothy had gone out with them. The mother never heard of them. Neither would she admit that she had taken Dorothy's money out of a bank so that the young wife could elope with Carroll Carlton. She did admit she had heard of Eugene Bussey, former Johns Hopkins student, with whom Dorothy corresponded.

Mrs. Heinzelman said that when Dorothy was living in New York, apart from her husband, she was self-supporting. She was employed as a stenographer for a publishing house.

The Indian girls have a shy beauty over which white boys sigh in vain. For them to marry outside the tribe is unknown.

No Memberships After November

Golf Subscriptions Good For Year Must Be Paid Before November

Recreation and council members met yesterday afternoon in the city building and it was decided that no more golf memberships would be issued after November 1. Persons who have subscribed for one or two years but who have not paid the full amounts must do so before November.

Persons who took out subscriptions and paid them for 1926 will find them good until the end of the 1930 season. Persons who took out two year memberships and paid them will find their memberships good until the end of the 1931 season.

All persons who subscribed and have not yet fully paid up the subscription must do so before November 1, according to a decision.

It is reported that the municipal golf course receipts for yesterday alone amounted to $37.50.

Boys Undergo Physical Tests

Directors At Y. M. C. A. Conduct Pre-Season Examinations

Boys who will resume physical work at the Y. M. C. A. next month are being subjected to physical examinations by Henry T. MacNicholas, acting physical director, at the present time. The tests will be given to newcomers and old members up until the season opens and then at scheduled periods throughout the year.

This year, MacNicholas states, the Y. M. C. A. is requiring the examinations be given the boys all through the year. Heretofore tests were given only at the beginning of the season. Records of those boys who have previously been examined are filed and when the next exam is made his latest figures compared with those revealed by the one just prior. This system affords "X" directors to determine more accurately the definite physical needs of boys who may fail to measure up in certain things.

Charge Broker With Kidnapping Bank Official

Sensation Is Created In Paterson, N. J., Case By Grand Jury Indictment

(International News Service) PATERSON, N. J., Sept. 21.—A sensation was caused in New Jersey financial circles today with the revelation that Harry Kuller, well known investment broker and real estate dealer, had been indicted by the Passaic county grand jury on charges of staging the kidnapping of William H. Elliott, former vice-president and treasurer of the Robert Trust company of Passaic, on June 26.

Six other indictments were returned, five of which for men not yet arrested. Those indicted were Joseph Bongiorno, alias "Kid Steech", Passaic, released last week in $10,000 bail as a material witness in the case; Angelo Lapaduro, Passaic sugar merchant who has not been arrested; and four others named as John Doe, Richard Roe, James Doe and William Roe.

One of the men under the Doe indictment was said to be leader of a gang of bootleggers, and to have directed the kidnapping.

Kuller was released in $25,000 bond after entering a not guilty plea. He charged he was victim of a "frame-up."

Although officials refused to discuss the indictments or reveal the motive for the kidnapping, it was intimated that Elliott had refused, in his capacity as bank officer, to grant a large loan to one of the indicted men, and that he was abducted so the money could be obtained. It was reported the money was wanted to finance a large brewery.

Failing to obtain the loan, the kidnapers released Elliott, according to reports.

Elliott's disappearance last June caused a nationwide sensation. He was abducted from his car while on the way to his place of business from his home in East Orange, kept prisoner for three days and then released.

On a writ of inquiry to fix damages, Sheriff H. M. Reynolds yesterday afternoon empaneled a jury of 12 men in the case of Harry Bean against L. F. Reuter. The amount claimed by Bean was $394.50. After hearing the evidence the jury awarded $353.29 damages.

Farm Bloc Shows Strength In Test Vote In Senate

Victorious In Fight To Assess Duty Against Canadian Wheat

ORGANIZATION LOSES REGULARS TO BLOC

By WILLIAM M. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—The senate farm bloc, reorganized since the farm relief battles, appeared today to have supplanted the Democratic-insurgent coalition as a dominating influence in the senatorial tariff wars.

Victorious in its fight to assess a heavy duty against Canadian wheat, milled into flour in this country for export to Cuba, the farm bloc was looking for bigger and better worlds to conquer. In the Canadian wheat contest, the bloc overwhelmed the senate finance committee's recommendation by a vote of 51 to 18. It even was given credit for the sub-rosa action of the committee itself in agreeing to abandon the "conditions of competition" clause from the new flexible tariff provision.

Desert Organization.

The wheat vote showed a curious disaffection within the Republican ranks. Such sturdy regulars as Allen of Kansas, Fess of Ohio, Goff and Hatfield of West Virginia, Goldsborough of Maryland, Kean of New Jersey, Oddie of Nevada, Patterson of Missouri, Vandenberg of Michigan and Walcott of Connecticut deserted the organization, voting with the farm bloc. In all 27 Republicans voted against the committee, including the insurgents and Republican farm bloc members. The vote really demonstrated that when such farm bloc members as Capper of Kansas, Pine of Oklahoma, Jones of Washington and Thomas of Idaho vote with the insurgents, the new bill will be charged to suit their views.

While the farm bloc waited for its next clash, the senate faced a decision on a provision dealing with assessment of penalties against owners of ships used in bringing outlawed opium into this country. The house assessed heavy penalties against the ship-owners but would allow the treasury to return the fines if the ship-owner proved his innocence in the transaction. The senate committee struck out this provision, so that ship owners would have to be tried in the federal courts if evidence indicated their knowledge of the opium smuggling.

The treasury department meanwhile started work on gathering the tremendous mass of information asked by the senate finance committee about the finances of more than 500 industrial corporations.

Twenty Persons Die In Panic As Smart Detroit Night Club Burns

Twenty persons met a horrible death in Detroit, Mich., when the smart resort "The Study Club" was transformed from a rendezvous of pleasure into a burning inferno from which the shrieks of the panic-stricken and dying replaced the gong, laughter of the merry-makers. A gas-bomb tossed by rival racketeers went off in a private dining room, which immediately burst into flames. Panic-stricken guests rushed to the doors and found them barred by iron against the onslaughts of the flames. Irony of Fate. Then through the flames leaped a hero. It was the orchestra leader Morrison Manning of New York. He sprang to a table

Pulford had been shot through the right temple with a .38 calibre revolver bullet, and was dead when found. The shooting took place behind the chicken coop.

According to facts learned on the scene, Pulford, who was employed at the steel mill, did not work last night. This morning, shortly before the noon hour, he visited a neighbor's home, and asked for the loan of a revolver. He said that something was bothering his chickens and he wanted to lay for it and shoot it.

Some time later residents of the vicinity heard a shot from the direction of the chicken coop, and on investigating found that Mr. Pulford was lying on the ground dead, with a bullet wound in his head. The borrowed revolver had been used.

The gun was lying on the ground near the body.

County Coroner Caldwell and officers are making a further investigation of the case this afternoon.

Says Money For Blind Not Spent In Their Behalf

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 21.—"The Pennsylvania Association for the Blind, which has been in existence 19 years receives city and state appropriations," asserted State Representative Matthew Dunn, of the sixth legislative district, "but it has failed miserably to help the blind get employment."

Himself blind, Dunn went to the court to defend a blind woman, Mrs. Oliver McLaughlin, arrested for begging on the streets.

In his defense he voiced an attack on the Pennsylvania Association for the blind that it had the money collected in drives for the blind were spent for their benefit, they would not have to beg.

"The blind are excellent bait to put on a hook for money which is spent for other purposes," he said. "Only six per cent of the blind in Pennsylvania are employed in the association's workshops."

"In Pittsburgh there are 750 blind persons. If the adults were given work at $15 a week, they would be glad to quit begging."

Magistrate Brandon discharged the prisoner.

"Two below bogey!" he remarked proudly.

"But," protested the official, "this is nowhere near bogey!"

The novice looked hurt.

"Compare the score," he said, "with the figures on the card, and you'll see."

The secretary looked.

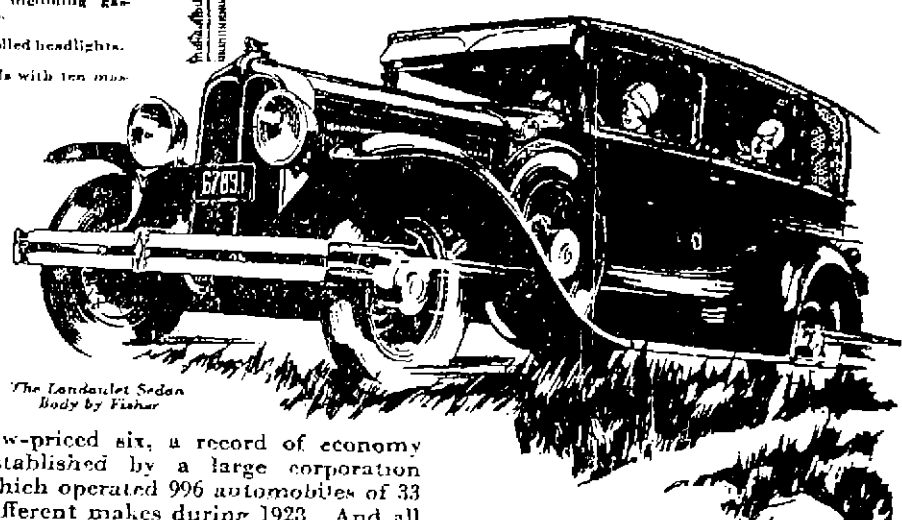

"Great Scott, man," he roared, "that's the length of the course in yards!"—Ed-J.

England Faces Finance Scandal

Millionaire Financier And Associates Held In Sensational Stock Decline

(International News Service)
LONDON, Sept. 21.—One of the greatest financial scandals in England in years loomed today as a result of the complete collapse of Phoenix, Ltd., company shares on the London Stock exchange yesterday.

Following a $40,000,000 price decline of a group of securities in which he and a number of associates were interested, Clarence C. Hatry, millionaire financier, was placed under arrest, charged with conspiracy to obtain money under false pretenses.

With Hatry were arrested three other men all prominent in London Stock Exchange activities. They are Edmund Daniels, managing director of the corporation and general securities, L. J. John C. Dixon, company secretary and director, and A. E. Taber, director of the Austin Friars Trust.

All four, it was said, are directly concerned with the Photomatam parrot corporation, which Hatry controlled. Hatry's financial interests are said to total more than $25,000,000.

Hatry and his associates were arraigned in Guildhall police court this morning charged with unlawfully obtaining $1,005,705 under false pretenses. They were remanded until September 27 for further investigation, but being released in the meanwhile. The crown prosecutor claims that all confessed.

Hoover Denies Sinclair Appeal

Appeal For Commutation Of Sentence Is Refused By President Today

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Harry F. Sinclair's appeal for commutation of his jail sentence for contempt of court was denied by President Hoover today.

Attorney General Mitchell late yesterday recommended to the president that he deny application of Sinclair and his business associate Henry Mason Day, for parole. Mitchell told the president that he was convinced by the record of the contempt trial in district supreme court, that the jury shadowing operations for which Day employed the Burns Detective Agency on Sinclair's behalf, was for a corrupt purpose.

To parole them, Mitchell said, would undermine the confidence of the public in the administration of justice. Mitchell said that while no corrupt purpose had actually been consummated, he was convinced the jury shadowing was for a sinister and ulterior purpose of influencing the Sinclair jury in the Teapot Dome case.

The attorney general sent his recommendation to the president from his summer home in Minnesota. Sinclair will spend the next two months as jail pharmacist, rolling pills as in the past. Both he and Day are "trustees."

Bo-Broadway

by JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

By Central Press
NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Oscar earns his spare ribs and tea night-watching for a bank of which former Police Commissioner McLaughlin is the president. Oscar is a home-loving man. He never cares to wander from his own fireside. And the other night, sitting in his shirt sleeves in a kitchen chair outside the paying teller's window, puffing dejectedly at his cornucopia, his thoughts drifted back to his cozy little Ostermoor at home. The more he thought the lonelier he got.

Twelve o'clock struck. A promissory note in the bank vault fell due with a dull, sickening crash. Whereupon Oscar arose, knocked the ashes from his pipe, donned his see-more-jacket, put on his hat and went home. Through a clerical error he forgot to close the front door of the bank so that when Maggie, the scrub lady, arrived several hours later she found it gently swinging in the breeze of early morning.

Maggie made the sign of the cross and then called a cop. The cop called some more cops, and they finally located Oscar safe at home, snuggled deep, and snoring in his Simmons.

The noise like the twentieth century applying the emergency brakes was merely gangland grinding its teeth when it learned next day that $500,000 reposed in the bank vault for several hours the night before with the front door open and the watchman home in bed.

RACKETEER'S TOLL

New York kids Chicago about the latter's proficiency in racketeering. As a matter of fact, the Windy City has nothing on the Capital of the Commonwealth in that respect. If it were not for racketeering the cost of living in the Mart-on-the-Hudson would not be wobbling between the pathetic and the ridiculous. Everyone pays, rich and poor alike. Not even the baby's milk bottle escapes. The stranger's within the city gates may shrug and ask how that can possibly interest him. It interests him to this extent: That an extra dollar a day is tagged to the price of his hotel room to offset the demands the racketeers make upon Mine Host.

In recent years the "take" of the racketeers in the building trades alone in only one of Manhattan's five boroughs has been $30,000,000.

RIGHT-O!

A shipment of $3,500,000 in twenty dollar gold pieces reached New York the other day from South America. The gold came from La Paz, and from there to the little seaport town of Arica, where it was taken aboard ship, transportation was effected by freight car with merely one guard. When it reached New York, however, the shipment was met by a score of armored cars and a veritable army of guards.

The New York police operate on the theory that an ounce of prevention is worth a lot of embarrassing headlines.

There's a whole lot in knowing when you're licked. Take the romantic real estate man, for example, who became smitten with the charms of Kay English, one of Old Doc Ziegfeld's best bets. Hank Northrop's name is, and he quit the high stool and the ledger in the "dirt" shop to obtain a job in the Ziegfeld chorus where he might feast his eyes, at will, on the slyph-like proportions of the entrancing Kay.

Hank has the soul of a reitor that even the Ziegfeld chorus couldn't wither. Kay was his "prospect" and he went after her as if she had been a corner lot. They were married—here's where the story slips: He got back to his $25 a week job with old man Babbitt, while Kay still occupies one of the spots in "Show Girl."

Hank would like to meet the cynic who once remarked: "Love is a disease for which marriage is the only cure."

MOLASSES FOR THE ENEMY

Peter waited, to be sure he was not mistaken, that Chirper really was foaming at the mouth, and acting strangely. And he was about to call for Mrs. Cricket when Mr. Cricket turned to him:

"Don't be alarmed," murmured he. "I am not ill, nor crazy! I am just making ready to protect myself. Did you hear that whirling?"

"Did I?" Peter repeated Chirper's question. "I should say so! It was loud enough! What was it? I was afraid it meant that danger threatened you, and I was just about ready to yell for Mrs. Cricket. For goodness sakes, will you please tell me what that stuff is which you are spitting out of your mouth? It looks like molasses. Is it?"

Chirper glanced at Peter out of the corner of his eye.

"I am sure I don't know what molasses is," said he. "What I am making is a juice that will make the birds keep away from me. That whirling we just heard was made by a bird. Listen! There it goes again. A bird is coming toward me. But he will not come too near. I will smear him with this if he tries to touch me, and he will decide to let me alone, take my word for it."

"I should think he had better!" exclaimed Peter. "It doesn't look very pretty, and it doesn't smell very good. Certainly I should hate to have you squirt any of it on me."

"Then all is exactly as it should be!" declared Chirper. "There, what did I tell you? That bird, by hook or crook, must have discovered that I was all ready for him, and has flown away on other business. You can see for yourself, he has disappeared. But look, boy! Who comes there? If my eyes do not deceive me, some stranger over yonder is waving to attract our attention. I am quite positive I never saw the chap before. He must mean you. From this distance he looks like a Bee, but I do not know many Bees. See, he is beckoning again. If you know who he is you may know what he wants! I'm sure I don't!"

MARATHONS

Some endurance tests have value. They have lessons to teach. The youthful flyers who stayed aloft many hours taught the scientific world something important about airplanes and their marathons. They teach the world a lesson also, but it is a sad lesson. We learn from them that civilization is a thin skin that is quickly punctured in many places. Down on the African coast supposedly savage natives dance all night to the music of the tom-tom. We call them barbarians. They would not dance six weeks as American marathons dancers will in this allegedly civilized country. The African savage is too well balanced, is too civilized, knows too much.

PERFECT

John Kane, 20 months old, is an independent Kase baby. In a recent baby show John won first place in his class, scoring 99.6 per cent. Babies like that furnish a great crop in Kansas or any other state. John's parents are proud, and yet not more proud than the parents of almost any baby. Fortunately nearly all parents think their babies are perfect. What is 99.6 per cent on a judge's notebook compared with the absolute 100 per cent in the heart of a mother?

THE THING THAT LASTS

Some years ago a letter signed by Oliver Goldsmith was sold for $200. The man who bought it sold it. Later he bought it back. This time he paid $5,500 for the same letter. What makes value? Something more than demand, after all. It Oliver Goldsmith had written best sellers of the type of "Elmer Gantry" or dozens of other books that register for a brief moment with the popular fancy, his signature would not be worth 55 cents to say nothing of $5,500. Good sound work may be slow in bringing its rewards. Sometimes it is tragically slow, but if the value is there even a careless public some day will not be able to escape it.

Hunter Is Shot By His Companion

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 21.—With 41 shots in his head, Frank Ford, this city, is near death in a hospital at Ravenna, the victim of a hunting accident. With three companions Ford was hunting woodchucks and concealed himself in a pile of underbrush. A companion fired when he saw a movement in the brush, the shot striking Ford in the head.

Present Program At Terrace School

Citizenship Program Is Given By Pupils Of School On Friday

Students of Terrace avenue school presented a splendid citizenship program at the school, Friday morning. At intervals during the school year, programs of this kind are presented.

The students are greatly interested in these programs and, together with the principal, Miss Anna Perry and the teachers of Terrace avenue school, work hard to present them.

Friday morning, the following program was presented:

Devotionals by the president of grade 6A, Antoinette Deverbo.

America—by the school.

Playlet, "I Can Do It"—by four boys from 6A.

"Hein Keller"—by Miss Anna Perry, principal.

Song—by Antoinette Deverbo.

Playlet, "A Good Citizen"—by ten boys and girls of 6A.

School song—by school.

The system of teaching at Terrace avenue school has undergone a radical change in recent years. Instead of all pupils being assigned the same problems, as in former years, each individual pupil is now given a problem commensurate with his intellectual standing.

Thus, the pupil who is able to work his problems easily and with more rapidity than another, is not retarded in his advancement as would otherwise be the case.

In the study of English, an improvement is the teaching of English comprehension by the ear. A story is told and the pupils are taught to tell the story in their own words. This is splendid training for high school composition work.

I Am Now Doing My Own Housework.

I was all run down with nervous prostration and palpitation of the heart (often getting black in the face and thought to be dying), and for six months I was confined to my bed. A relative of mine who had been troubled with female weakness and nervous prostration and had been cured by Thompson's Barosma, recommended it to me. I began to take the Barosma at once and was not only cured of nervous prostration and palpitation of the heart, but began to gain back my flesh, and from that time on until now have been perfectly well, doing my own housework.—Mrs. Ely M. ### Zep Stowaway Gets Sentence To Jail

(International News Service)

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, Sept. 21.—Nineteen-year-old Albert Buscho, German baker's apprentice, who hoped to gain fame and fortune by stowing away on the Graf Zeppelin, was sentenced to three weeks in jail today in the Wuerttemberg district court.

Buscho was found guilty of infringement of the domestic peace. He stowed away upon the Graf when it left for Lakehurst, N. J., the first of August. He was quickly discovered, and when the airship reached the United States he was turned over to the immigration authorities. After his return to Germany he tried to commit suicide.

But probably the real haircut of the century will not come off until some multi-millionaire tells his favorite barber to come over on the Graf Zeppelin.—The Cleveland News.

Placing Ads In Mail Boxes Is Unlawful Act

May Involve Penalty For Party Responsible, It Is Warned

Business houses and individuals who place advertising matter such as circulars in mail boxes on rural routes and private receptacles in the city are liable to a heavy penalty for so doing, said Postmaster E. W. Crawford in reminding New Castle merchants of this fact today.

One is strictly prohibited by law from depositing private circulars in the boxes in which the law provides that only matter which carries postage can be placed.

While the practice is not carried on to such an extent as it formerly was, Mr. Crawford stated, "it is necessary to caution and remind merchants that it is unlawful."

Chagrin Recalled By Mrs. Coolidge

Formal Dinner Turned Out Evening Of Embarrassment,
She Writes

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Embarrassing moments for me and as told by Mrs. Calvin Coolidge.

An extremely formal dinner in honor of a foreign guest was being given in the temporary White House at du Pont Circle.

"The guests were seated with due ceremony," says Mrs. Coolidge in the current issue of the American Magazine, "but one of the chairs proved unworthy and the cane seat gave beneath the weight of a distinguished guest."

"A substitute was brought, but the gentleman preferred to remain in comfortable rather than embarrass his hostess by attracting attention to his plight."

"The tie of another gentleman slipped its moorings, but was unobtrusively retrieved and secured."

More Misfortunes.

"An aid, one of these flustered at-

tered officers bodecked with gold braid and lace, who may always be seen near the president when he appears at formal functions, had been having some dental work done and a piece of temporary material had been put in place in order that he might present his usual flawless appearance at the dinner.

"This structure melted at the first spoonful of hot soup, and I feel sure his dinner partner thought he had been stricken with facial paralysis from the contortions he made in an effort to cover the deficiency."

Meanwhile, Mrs. Coolidge says, the chimney of the temporary White House had caught fire and a man was posted on the roof to prevent a recurrence of that difficulty.

"For a long time," relates the former first lady, "that particular dinner was referred to as 'the dinner of horrors.'"

Found Guilty Of Assault And Battery With An Automobile

BUTLER, Pa., Sept. 21.—A short time after a busy day had returned a verdict of assault and battery by an automobile against Charles Hay of East Brady, he and Harry Rettig, also of East Brady, who was riding with Hay, were made defendants in a damage action in the sum of $35,000.

In the accident, which occurred in Chicago the night of August 9, Roxanna Cancelli, nine, was struck by the automobile driven by Hay, and she received a fracture of one leg, a broken pelvis, a cut at the base of the skull and severe flesh injuries, according to the information filed by the child's father, Alphonse Cancelli.

The plaintiff claims $25,000 for himself and $10,000 for his daughter, who will be permanently injured, the action says. It is charged that the two men were driving in a reckless manner when the accident occurred.

Judge James M. Galbreath withheld sentence in the conviction of Hay in the assault and battery case.

Foster's Weather Forecast

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Storm wave of moderate force, expected to cross continent during week centering on 24, will be general east of Rockies, will increase in force as it crosses east half of continent and will be expected to bring on a two weeks' period of lower average temperatures and increasing precipitation. This storm wave, occurring near the equinox and at a time when the relative positions of sun and planets favor a strong inter-planetary movement of force, will probably cause several local storms over the entire northern hemisphere during passage of storm center. Sept. 20 to 23 will not be a favorable period for long trips or other outdoor activities that would place man at the mercy of the elements; most storm force in North America during this storm period will be expected on west side of Great Lakes and vicinity and in central cotton belt near meridian 90. Storm wave of mild force is expected to center on 30; increasing precipitation and below normal temperatures will rule during this storm period, but lower temperatures is expected to center on 30; increasing precipitation and below normal temperatures will rule during this storm period, but lower temperatures will be expected during first week of October. In northern and central latitudes, it will be advisable to get all possible fall work done and all possible crops out of reach from frost and low temperatures before storm wave centering on September 24 reaches your vicinity; not that I expect winter to start at this early date, but that storm center will be followed by a two weeks' period that

500 Garages Prove Unfit For Approval

HARRISBURG, Sept. 21.—Of 4800 garages and repair shops examined by state highway patrolmen, with the idea of ascertaining their fitness for designation as official examining stations during the forthcoming compulsory motor vehicle period, 500 were found deficient, and their applications were rejected. The patrol is now examining 600 additional shops and garages, suggested for inspection stations.

Some confusion exists as to the status of already approved headlamp and brake-testing stations, authorized by the motor code. Possession of such approval does not automatically O. den C. Malone, 15-year-old high school student, was found shot to death in the back yard of Mrs.
Mabel DePron, 21, she attempted to commit suicide because she said investigators appeared to believe she had slain the boy. Authorities, despite the coroner's verdict of suicide, are continuing their investigation. Mrs. DePron said Lynden was infatuated with her and tried to get her to enter into a suicide pact.

Bethany Class Has Fine World Tour

Many Interesting Countries Visited By 13 Car Loads And A Bus Of Christian Church People

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 21.—The second annual world tour taken by the Bethany class of the Christian church took place Friday night, starting from the church at eight o'clock.
Miss June Bruell and her committee worked out the itinerary very successfully and 13 carloads and one bus full of members of the congregation started at eight o'clock from the church on the tour.

First they went to Thornhill's in Prisco, which was Germany. There they enjoyed a meal of good old frankfurters. Then to Linden's at Knox Stop, decorated to represent the Hawaiian Islands and the menu was pineapple; thence to Coates home on Wilkey hill, representing China, and rice was served; at Miss Bruell's home on Reservoir hill, the country was Mexico and some delicious hot chili con carne was served; at the home of Miss Luella Hines on Spring avenue, Ireland was the port, and the doorway bore a sign aloft bidding
the guests welcome to Ireland.

At the Frank Dibell home, which was decorated to represent Japan, delicious tea was the menu. At the Aiken home on the New Castle road
the tourists discovered themselves in Italy and enjoyed yards and yards of spaghetti.

They wound up at the Hess home (America), just as the midnight whistles blew, having completed their tour
in less time than it took the Graf Zeppelin.

At the last port they enjoyed coffee, relishes and other good American foods.

Deer Seen In This District

Frank Hunter of 720 Cunningham avenue reports an interesting sight seen by the crew and passengers of a Harmony line car on Thursday morning about five miles southeast of El-lowood City. The car was making good time about nine o'clock that morning in the district mentioned, when the operator of the car slowed up a bit and called the attention of all on the car to four fine deer in a field alongside the track, and feeding. One was a magnificent buck, while the other three were does. Apparently they are becoming much more plentiful in this section.

ELLWOOD PERSONALS
Mr. and Mrs. James Baxter of Crescent avenue have returned from a motor trip to Rockford, Ill.

Lloyd Badger of Lawrence avenue is confined to his home by illness.
O. W. Cox of Chicago is the guest of his mother, Mrs. Ida E. Cox of Spring avenue.

Mrs. T. J. Mehard of Wuremburg is the guest of friends in New Castle.

NOT TOO HEAVY
Flowers having a very heavy scent should never be used for table decoration. The strong perfume in a warm room will take away the appetites of some people and cause others to feel quite ill.

You will have perfect meat balls if you put the ground meat into a round

3 Good Reasons for BUILDING with CERTIFIED MATERIAL

1 Guaranteed by a $1000 Bond

The bonding experts of a nationally known Surety Company—with assets of over $44,000,000—have backed Certified Material, with a $1000 Bond Guarantee. Certified Material, therefore, must be good material—worthy of the trust that has been put behind it.

2 Recognized by banks in making loans

"Appearances are sometimes deceiving" says the Banker, "how do I know that your home is built of materials that will last?" The owner of a home built of Certified Material easily answers this question with his Certificate of Quality which is documentary evidence of "built-in" value. Thus does Certified Material greatly simplify the matter of obtaining loans and renewing mortgages.

3 Brings a higher resale price

To make a home easy to sell—be able to prove that it is constructed of dependable materials. For those who build with Certified Material such proof is readily available in the form of a Certificate of Quality. This Certificate is an accurate description, item by item, of the building material used. Because it is tangible proof of good materials it greatly enhances the building's resale value.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

By J. Carroll Mansfield

The Story Of The World War

WHILE THE REVOLUTION WAS GOING ON IN PETROGRAD (MARCH, 1917), THE CZAR OF RUSSIA, AGAINST THE ADVICE OF HIS OFFICERS, SET OUT ABOARD HIS PRIVATE TRAIN FROM THE HEAD-QUARTERS OF THE RUSSIAN ARMY AT THE FRONT TO JOIN THE CZARINA AND HIS CHILDREN AT TSARSKOE SELO NEAR PETROGRAD.

AS THE IMPERIAL TRAIN SPED TOWARD PETROGRAD, MOMENTOUS EVENTS WERE TAKING PLACE IN THE CAPITAL. THE CITY WAS IN THE HANDS OF THE REVOLUTIONISTS. THE GOVERNMENT HAD CEASED TO FUNCTION AND ANARCHY PREVAILED. ARMED CROWDS POURED THROUGH THE STREETS, SHOOTING DOWN POLICE AND SOLDIERS WHO REMAINED LOYAL TO THE CZAR.

SOME OF THE CZAR'S MINISTERS FLED. OTHERS WERE ARRESTED BY THE REVOLUTIONISTS. GRAND DUKE MICHAEL, THE MINISTER OF WAR, THE COMMANDANT OF THE PETROGRAD GARRISON AND A HANDFUL OF LOYAL SOLDIERS FORTIFIED THEMSELVES IN THE STRONG ADMIRALTY BUILDING, BUT ABANDONED THEIR IMPROVED FORT WHEN THE MOB WAS ABOUT TO BOMBARD THE PLACE WITH ARTILLERY.

WITH THE SUPPORT OF THE MASSES THE DUMA (THE RUSSIAN CONGRESS), HAD REFUSED TO ADJOURN AT THE CZAR'S COMMAND. IT NOW REPUDIATED NICHOLAS II AND HIS GOVERNMENT, AND A DUMA COMMITTEE UNDERTOOK TO CREATE A PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT THAT WOULD HAVE THE CONFIDENCE OF THE PEOPLE (MARCH 12, 1917).

CONTINUED MONDAY.

NEW CASTLE DEFEATS GROVE CITY 13-0

Hartman's Eleven Stages Great Battle Against New Castle

Ne-Ca-Hi Gridders Show Promise Of Fine Team In Opening Game Of Season On Friday Night. Passing Attack Is Feature—White Ball Used. Grove City Near Scoring As Game Is Ended—Some New Red And Black Stars Are Developing.

(By BART RICHARDS)

Perhaps these bear stories about the New Castle High School football team were a trifle overdrawn after all. And perhaps we may be able to stagger through the season without having the opposition romp all over the joint and several weeks of the team. That indigo coloring of Phil Bridenbaugh's pre-season statements turned to a rosy pink Friday night when the 1929 model, playing for the first time under the effulgence of fourteen flood lights, hammered its way to a 13-0 victory over the Grove City High School football team at Franklin Field.

Hammered is the word for the opposition was plenty tough. Joe Hartman, who learned about football at New Castle High, has a team this year that is nobody's patsy, nobody's pushover if you get the delicate French phrasing, and for a time it looked as though the lads from Grove City might go back with an even score or at least a touchdown.

Almost Over

Not content with providing the opposition of a mid-season opponent, Joe's proteges pushed the white football down to the ten yard line in the last minute of play, had it on the two yard line when the fourth down was called, and then the line held. Held like a bunch of Horatius at a bridge, like a concrete wall, or a convention of thistle Scotchmen. When the whistle blew the ball was so close to the line that an anemic grasshopper could have hopped from the ball to back of the posts, but the payoff in football isn't on close ones.

It seems hardly necessary to mention the crowd for you must have been there, but for the benefit of the readers in southwest Indiana, perhaps a line or two would be in order. It was a crowd of customers, not just an ordinary crowd, but one of those over-sold teams that had the ticket sellers seized with cramps in their arms, and Ralph Gardner in a state of bordering on intoxication, purely non-alcoholic. Just what the gate receipts showed for last night is not known yet, but it would make a heavy dent in the national debt.

Probably 12,000.

Your guess is as good as anybody's on the crowd, but if you guess a thing under 12,000 somebody will chuckle right in your brainwave. The stadium seats were as full as your grandmother's pantry used to be the circus, and the standing room at the corners had the customers standing ten deep, and the only place left to pack 'em in would have been to provide hooks on the light poles.

They were here from the Beaver valley, from up the Shenango valley, from the Mahoning valley, and as far east as Altoona. Scout and coaches and players and spectators, all of them here for the spectacle provided for it was a spectacle. A sort of combination of a circus, a football game and an outdoor concert. Any minute one expected a ring master to step out in a silk hat and announce that the elephants were coming, or that Madame Gazza would defy death in a double loop with her hands tied back of her.

Considerable Football.

For an opening game with a team of green players one could say that it was considerable of a wow, and still be a member of the Conservative wing. It was a symphony of searchlights, a battle of brains and brawn, a colorful, spectacular battle that had the fans endangering their tonsils, and had staid old ladies pounding their neighbors just south of where the back collar button fits, and at the end of the exciting Doc Mcintoshy bespoke the opinion of the 12,000 or so that the number was when he said, "It looks like we have a team."

To get technical perhaps we should name names, right out in meeting. All right, see you, here goes. For instance this McAuley kid who fits in a quarter like a chestnut fits in a burr. A smart brood of a lad, who ran the team like a general, mazzagled down a broken field like a drunken driver in an alley, and who gets down under a forward pass in a way that promises some sweet going on this season.

Or Alexander.

Or Alexander, if you want another backfield man. This boy looks to be nominated and elected on all tickets for the position of battering ram for the way he bores through a line reminds you of a berserk bull hitting a fence. And he also tosses a nasty forward pass, sometimes. Adding and subtracting the opposition is Merle McIntosh who will do, and how. Hannon who plays left half is like a cypsi, al-

Havrilla Aids In Shaping Titan Squad For Opener

Squad Is Cut To 25 Men; Newcomers Report With Opening Of School

FORDHAM TO BE MET IN OPENING CONTEST

Stephen Jiggs' Havrilla, star full-back on last year's tri-state conference championship football team at Westminster, is aiding Coach Beede and Lawther in getting this year's Titan squad in shape for the opening game with Fordham September 28 in New York City.

Havrilla played a guard on the second team yesterday in the hardest scrimmage session so far this season. An actual game was played, which the "A" team won, 12-5. Coach Lawther acted as referee. The two teams were about equal, since a number of regulars were on both squads.

Today will undoubtedly see the last of the scrimmage sessions. While Beede feels that the men need more of the rougher side of training, injuries practically prohibit any more. Thursday's scrimmage resulted in injuries to James Perrin, Homer Dishon, Johnstone tackle. Both men will be out until some time next week.

With the start of college a number of new men have reported to Coach Beede, but it is thought that these men will not stand much chance of making varsity berths so late. They will, however, help in the scrimmages. But 25 of those who started training camp on Labor Day have been retained on the squad.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

By ED. FRITZ

Apparently our prediction that the Ne-Ca-Hi-Grove City hi grid clash would be close has been verified.

The floodlights acted as a stimulant to the drawing ability of both eleven and a capacity crowd witnessed the game.

The thrills of the gridiron came with the touchdowns, the aerial passing and when Grove City had Ne-Ca-Hi on defense.

Many chaps almost swallowed their Adams apple when Joe Hartman's yellow jackets put the ball within a few yards of the goal.

That boy Bohlander got away for a couple of runs but Dunn did not appear to have a chance. That "bird" was a spotted man last night.

Watching the game was like looking through a pair of smoked glasses on a sunny day.

It would not be a poor idea for the Ne-Ca-Hi and other teams to put white numbers on the jerseys.

And by the way some alleviation for the jam at the gates should be evolved before next Friday night.

More games should be opened, more ticket sellers put to work. Police were useless at the gates.

This is a friendly and piece of constructive criticism. Many of the fans had to play football to get near a ticket window.

It was their first game under lights, a combination that the players felt they'll come through.

BURNS AND MCKENNA TO BATTLE MONDAY

Italian-American And Canadian To Pull Big Crowd At Bowl

FOUR OTHER GOOD BATTLES ARRANGED

By ED FRITZ.

Fans who have been longing for middleweight punchers will have their wishes gratified Monday night when Johnny Burns, California middleweight star and Jack McKenna, claimant to the 100 pound title of Canada, clash in a ten-round bout at the Jolly Bowl. Burns will end training today in Chicago and McKenna will finish up at Cleveland.

The middleweights will arrive tomorrow in New Castle and lumber up from the long train ride during the afternoon at Dime's gym. Burns' most recent fight with Ben De Vos of the Chicago stadium and McKenna fought Bobby O'Hara a week ago at Mike Molloy's Logan Square stadium, Chicago.

Burns has fought Leo Lonski, Bert Colina, Joe Roche, Haakon Hansen and should have had a draw with the Belgian, De Vos according to Manager Tom Walsh. It was a slambang night in which De Vos was accredited with taking five rounds. Burns four and the other was even. They battered each other from post to post.

Fought Firpo Draw. McKenna came from Canada a stranger to Cleveland, floored Henry Firpo for a count of nine, got a draw, then romped to Chicago as the result of his stellar battle and upset the dope by defeating Bobby O'Hara. McKenna is a terrific puncher and whenever his right hand O'Hara wheeled and fans knew he was hurt.

It will be the first eastern debut of the Italian-American, Burns and the same for McKenna. They will stop at the Leslie hotel where it is reported that a big advance sale has been recorded. Frank Ross in charge of ticket sales at the Bowl also predicts a crowd that will fill the Bowl.

This is due to the fans wanting to see middleweights above the average and according to their records they should please fans. Jack De Neel, Cleveland is in great shape for Dandy Allen of Philadelphia.

They are to clash in the six-round semi-final. Allen hopes to pull a Hernandez and trip up the Cleveland featherweight.

Romeo Escell, local idol of the Italian-Americans is in five fettle for his six round romp with Tommy Duffy, Irish lad of Cleveland.

Fast Preliminaries. They will box at 128 pounds. Romeo Escell has trained here and Duffy has been coveting in Cleveland.

Roy Minter, this city and Joe Follans, Beaver Falls, bantam champs of Lawrence and Beaver counties will clash in a four rounder.

Young City and Young Murphy, Fifth ward and First ward junior welterweights will open the show.

The fight will start at 9 p. m. last time but the doors will open at 7:30 so the big crowd can be handled and seated.

Allegheny Grid Squad Pointed For Tilt With Geneva

Wealth Of Backfield Material In School This Year; Line Causes Trouble

MEADVILLE, Pa., Sept. 21.—The Allegheny College offense showed more cohesion and team play in yesterday's scrimmage, the varsity team scoring five touchdowns during the 20 minutes of play. The backfield, composed of Quarterback Slaughter, Fullback Garbar and Halfbacks Berger and Varano, displayed terrific driving power and literally swept through the opposition. Dennison and Gamble, who, playing at the half-back positions Wednesday, did some sensational work, were permitted to scrimmage for only a very short time today.

The work of the Allegheny backs this week indicates that Coach Cronin has little to be desired in this department. The line, however, is giving him considerable worry. The trouble seems to be in finding guards with sufficient speed to interfere efficiently, and at the same time display the desired power on defense.

With the powerful and clever Geneva College team appearing here in the opening game September 23, the Allegheny management has been making plans for a record-breaking crowd. Last year's game between Allegheny and Geneva was bitterly contested and developed into one of the most spectacular grid contests ever played by the Blue and Gold. Both Geneva and Allegheny specialize in the open game and in spite of the fact that both will be playing their first game of the season, the classy passers and receivers which they possess makes practically certain that the game will be replete with forward passes and truck plays.

One should not conclude, however, that the two teams will be without power, for each can place on the field a line averaging 195 pounds and a backfield averaging better than 170 pounds.

HANISH THE CORK

If the cork has fallen into a bottle you wish to keep for future use, pour enough household ammonia into the bottle to float the cork. Let it stand a few days and the cork will break into fine pieces, allowing it to slide out of the mouth of the bottle with ease.

AVERAGES SHOW CUBS HAVE SOUNDER ATTACK

Lead In Scoring Runs, Hits And Have Stolen Most Bases

LEAD ATHLETICS IN HITTING HOME RUNS

By DAVIS J. WATSON
International News Service Staff
NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Having voiced yesterday for the Athletics as the better defensive combination—and simultaneously declaring that defense in general runs hurriedly for McSwiggan if they lay you like a side-walk with the first punch—I can't very well afford to send the same club in on the attack. I can't see anything but a sure thing. For another, it wouldn't be true. The Cubs appear to have the sounder and more sustained attack.

This opinion has to be based on the averages. It is an unsatisfactory method and perhaps it lacks logic but when two teams, who operate in different leagues, face different pitching and use different playing fields, are being considered, there is no other basis of comparison.

Using it, therefore, for what it may be worth, we find the Cubs topping the Athletics in practically every department of attack. They lead in run scoring, total hits, total bases, home runs, have batted in about sixty more runs and have stolen something like thirty more bases.

Only in three base hits do the Athletics show in front, which is something of a tip off in the available figures. A drive is either a double or a home run at the Cubs park.

This night account, in part, for the Cubs superiority in total runs, total bases, home runs and perhaps runs driven in. It doesn't account for the Cubs' superiority in total hits or in two base hits and stolen bases. I'm admitting, however, that base stealing has played no great part in former series, a notable exception being Max Carey's steal of third, the psychological gesture that, for my part, decided the final game of the 1925 series.

Anyhow, the Cubs, record plainly says that they do more things to that baseball, just as the Athletics' record says that they can do more things with it. It remains to be seen how much, if any, of this superior hitting and run scoring is due to the smaller park in Chicago and how much, if any, it might be due to the alleged fact that the National is less of a pitchers' league than the American, a theory held in some quarters.

Frankly, I suspect that the Cubs' attack is entitled to most of the breaks that the averages seem to give them. The Athletics' attack may improve accordingly with four of the seven games scheduled for Chicago, yet potentially the Athletics lack the nine-man punch of the Cubs. The difference lies largely with Boley and Bishop, the second base combination.

Hornby, for example, admittedly is the big gun of the Cub offense. The Athletics can match him with Simmons. Both are right hand hitters well up around 370, and they not only hit them consistently but fair. I also would be willing to match Fox with Segenbaum for consistency or with other Cubs or Wilson for slugging. In fact, if it were to be a case of the or four—Summitt, Fox, Miller and Cowdrey versus Hornby, Stephen, Cowler and Wilson—I would venture to say that the thing looks the part being taken off.

Probing beyond the big shots, we find Grimm and English of the Cubs, slighted opposite Dykes and Haas of the Athletics, and, if anything, I like the last two. They have out-hit the Cub pair in the interleague averages and I wouldn't care to say that they haven't hit as opportunely, either.

However, McMillan of the Cubs has been considerably a better hitter from every standpoint than Boley of the Athletics.

As for Bishop, he has been in a prolonged slump all season and, I might add, a surprising slump. He was quite a hitter last year. However, I don't mind telling you that they have made up their minds to play this series this year. So we will have to accept Bishop as he is, which happens to be a .235 hitter, according to the last averages I got. Even Zach Taylor, the stop-gap catcher of the Cubs, can top that with 30 points to spare and I don't care what kind of pitching you use, either. A man with a .235 average simply isn't hitting in any league.

Even Money Bet.

So, we wind up with something of an impasse, with one club apparently having the greatest penchant for producing runs and the other having the greatest tendency to stop them from being produced. This as I see it makes the perfect world series. There should be no odds except if you wish to play the hunch that the Cubs get a break on the first two games being scheduled for the home grounds.

However, four times out of five the first game decides the world series. It will decide this one almost to a certainty, as a study of the schedule and the pitching personnel will reveal. It is the big first punch I was talking about and the club that doesn't land it may find both attack and defense running for McSwiggan—and running a dead heat, at that.

NEW CASTLE GROVE CITY CONTEST PLAY BY PLAY

Dunn took the ball and after squirming through the line, broke away for a run that seemed sure of ending on the other side of the goal line. Several tacklers missed him, but McAuley playing safety, dropped him on the ten yard line after about 35 yards of a gain.

Instead of trying to pull the New Castle line out by an end play, Grove City elected to hit the line with straight smashes. On the third down Grove City had the ball on the two yard line and then made a desperate effort to push it over. The play failed by inches, and as the whistle blew, it was New Castle's ball on its own half yard line.

Miss Sarah Palfrey, girls' national champion, and with her sister, Elaine, girls' doubles champion, has played with such brilliant success this season that she is regarded by many as a future women's national titleholder.

The slim youngster, only 15 years old, made the tennis world sit up and take notice in the eastern grass court tournament. Here Miss Palfrey reached her greatest heights when she won over the veteran Mrs. May Sutton Bundy, once a national champion, and went on to win the title by defeating Miss Mary Crowe, a Kansas City youth in the finals.

Connie Ahead Of Miller Huggins

Athletics Enable Connie To Pass Huggins In Race For Flags

MACK'S FIRST FLAG IN FIFTEEN YEARS

By HENRY MCLEMORE
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Win, lose or draw in the coming lawn parties with the Chicago Cubs, Connie Mack may well speak of his 1929 Athletics in the same reverential tone he uses when discussing his trumpeting White Elephants of the past.

The current edition of A's have done quite a bit for the old man. First they gave him his first American League flag in 15 years. Secondly, the flag they won enabled him to pass Neighbor Huggins in the matter of pennants won. And now they seem on the way to score more victories than any of Connie's earlier Athletics.

Their 10-inning 2 to 1 win over the Tigers yesterday gave them 99 wins against 44 losses. It seems more than probable that they will win five more games for 104 victories, which will top the 103 of the 1919 A's—the highest number of triumphs yet scored by a Mack team.

Crowder Beats Senators
St. Louis, behind the airtight hurling of Alvin Crowder, blanked Washington, 1 to 0. Goose Goslin's error paved the way for the lone Brown tally.

Wesley Ferrell, sensational young Indian pitcher, stepped into the breach in time to stop a Red Sox upsurge and Cleveland turned back the Boston boys, 4 to 2.

The Yankees and White Sox took one look at the bleak Yankee stadium and ran for their long flannels. They will make the game up by playing a doubleheader tomorrow.

Pittsburgh trimmed Boston, 10 to 3, in the only game played in the National League. Brooklyn and St. Louis, the only other clubs scheduled, were rained out. The Pirates' win gave them a five-game lead over the Giants in their battle for second place honor, glory and, need we add, money.

Elusive Tommy Is Continuing Grind

(International News Service)
HARVEY'S LAKE, Pa., Sept. 21.—Free from the critical glances of sports writers and other experts Tommy Loughran was today to continue his training for his last approaching bout with Jack Sharkey at the Yankee Stadium.

He planned to take to the road early today and later top his work off with a few mild rounds against his sparring mates.

The Philadelphia in his workout yesterday before a large gathering, convinced those around the ring that he is in the best of health; the best of spirits; the best of shape and brimming over with confidence. He worked two rounds apiece against Fred Caldwell, Harry Neelan, Jack Wolf and Frankie Cawley and looked to be the same old elusive Loughran again, but added weight. It might be added, however, that none of the above sparring mates use a style anywhere near that employed by Sharkey.

A contemporary says the Pantages children have been busy every morning getting Papa and Mama off to court. Let us hope they will learn their daily lessons while they're there.

The Little Rock Arkansas Demonstration

Unless the weather moderates making it possible for him to melt away poundage, Sharkey will enter the ring Thursday night weighing 195, three more pounds than he had planned on.

EMANUEL TO HELP SHARKEY GET IN SHAPE

(International News Service)
ORANGEBURG, N. Y., Sept. 21.—In an effort to perfect an attack that will pierce the armor of Tommy Loughran, Jack Sharkey planned to use Emanuel, coast heavy-weight, as a sparring mate. Emanuel, who lost a close decision to Loughran last year, employs a ring style quite similar to the former lightweight-weight champion.

Unless the weather moderates making it possible for him to melt away poundage, Sharkey will enter the ring Thursday night weighing 195, three more pounds than he had planned on.

Star Athletic Sluggers Ready for Series

Can the Cub's pitchers stop the heavy hitters of the Athletics? It seems practically assured that these teams will cross bats in the world's series since the Mack men have their pennant sewed up and only a tough break can keep the Windy City boys out of it. Any gambest—you know, a friendly argument which ends in fist throwing—will wax hot when the fence busting quintet of the "A's" are mentioned. Just look at them (left to right), Bing Miller, Mickey Cochrane, George Haas, Al Simmons and Jimmy Fox, with a combined average of .342. That's a slugging row for any pitcher to get by, but Hornby does expect his hurlers to come through. They're good Rogers but they're in a tough spot. Plenty of "Oh!" fans will tell you that Guy Bush and Charlie Root are the pitchers who will show these Quakers a few tricks. That may all be so, yet you can't help thinking that these babies have their eyes on the ball and it will take extra fine slawwork to stop them.

More than a million dollars and perhaps as much as $1,500,000 will be taken in, in advance ticket sales, it was indicated, with the series as a "sell out." Officials both of the Athletics and the Chicago Cubs are seeking to prevent that toll being doubled before it hits the pocketbooks of the American public.

Last year the blue ribbon event of baseball brought in only $732,217 to the contenders. Clubs to St. Louis Cardinals and the New York Yankees, but this year the statisticians have figured the thing out like this:

Each game played here will bring in $191,925. Since there will be three of these goldanzas, a little easy arithmetic brings the conclusion that the sponsors of the A's and the Cubs will rake $575,775 off the counter from fans.

But in Chicago—! Well, say the club officials, Wrigley field is considerably larger than Shibe park and there may be four games there, if the series breaks that way. The total income, anyhow, is figured at between a million and a million and a half dollars.

The temporary offices in a hosiery mill near the park here were closed just two days after they opened, with more than 80,000 requests for the 30,000 tickets that were left after 6,000 had been taken by various subscriptions that were given preference.

The result is giving shivers of pleasure to the pocketbook holders of the contending clubs.

In the first batch of mail that was examined, 6,000 "duplications" were found, according to Schroeder, indicating that the senders intended to do a little high powered speculation on their own accounts. These duplications were weeded out first.

The letters requesting tickets were Dunlap, if, 4 0 1 1 0 0 0

Lindy Flies To Port-au-Prince

(BULLETIN)
SANTIAGO DE CUBA, Sept. 21.—After a restful night spent in this old Cuban City, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his party hopped off for Port-au-Prince, Haiti, at 6:00 o'clock this morning.
The weather was clear.
The big tri-motored Fokker got away to a good start with the engines working perfectly. It was a typical "Lindbergh take off."
After flying over the city and harbor the plane headed in a south-easterly direction out over windward passage—the body of water connecting the Atlantic and the Caribbean.
The distance to Port-au-Prince is approximately 275 miles.

Two Are Seeking State Pardons Soviet Plane Is On U. S. Territory

Cases Will Come Before Pardon Board At Session Next Week

(From News Bureau)
HARRISBURG, Sept. 21.—Two cases originating in the Lawrence county courts are scheduled for consideration before the Pardon Board at its meeting here next week. Both cases are listed for argument.
Joe Vincel, 48, a former employee of the Midland quarry, North Beaver township, is applying for relief from a second degree murder sentence. On July 23, 1924, he was sentenced by the county to serve from 8-12 to 17 years for the shooting of Paul Kiraviki. Kiraviki was killed while a visitor at the home of Tony Puz. The applicant had gone to the Puz home for his laundry. The victim was a visitor there at the same time.

While at the Puz residence Vincel made a complimentary remark to the wife which was resented by her husband. A fight started which resulted in the death of Kiraviki.
Vincel claims he shot in self defense. He pleaded nolle contendere at the time of the trial.
The other application comes from Gilbert Blair Hooks, 26, of Mars, Butler county. Hooks together with his wife and two children were visiting relatives in New Castle.
After taking his wife to the business district of the city Hooks and a nephew went for an automobile ride. While on the ride they picked up a Minnie Shuller. Hooks was arrested on information given by the girl and charged with assault to rape. He was sentenced January 5 1929 to serve from one to four years in the penitentiary.
In his application to the board Hooks sets forth that the prosecution was prompted by pecuniary motives to the end of blackmail. He also cites as a reason for the pardon is that his wife expects a child and needs his support.

ABE MARTIN On Shootin' An Killin'

JACK DALTON TOUCHED BY A WOMAN'S TEARS.

Tell Blinky's brother, who lives in Deadwood which is in one of the other of the Dakotas, has written to him sayin' he'd like to pay him a visit, but he's afraid he'd be murdered an' robbed if he came east. Mrs. Tipson Bud's niece o' Texas, who's visitin' her, swoons ever time she hears a sure bust an' yit she folks here at home walk around the street with seven or eight dollars in our pockets an' mebbe a flat, yeller diamond on our fingers, just as if they wuzn't no bandits. Lon Moon tried to buy a pair o' shoes, sayin' he'd pay fer them Saturday, an' the shoe dealer said, "Nothin' doin'. How do I know you won't be murdered before Saturday?" All Moos, ribs are black an' blue from havin' revolvers poked in 'em. He drives a fast car an' he's nearly allus bein' forced to drive a bandit to some point or other. Cashier Lester Kite is back at his bullet-riddled post at the bank. He's still bleached an' hoarse from his long confinement in the damp vault, an' he's still wearin' handcuffs, as Blacksmith Luther Bentley, who has the handcuffin' contract with the bank, is off on a squabble hunt in Hendricks county. But there's lots o' little jobs he kin perform about the bank such as watchin' out fer boys around twenty-one an' turnin' farmers down. Tilford Moos shot a woman Saturday night. He was walkin' along an' felt a poke in his back, an' turned an' fired, but it wuz only the woman's umbrella. The doctors are still pickin' in shot out of Longmont Meadows, treasurer o' the Excelsior Tile Works, who wuz surprised a few days ago while makin' up his pay roll. They expect to finish up this week unless they run into a new lead when he's turned over. He's a little too slow movin' to handle money. He fully intends to hold his hands up, but he didn't git organized fast enough. Miss Tawney Apple, o' the movie the-ater box office, is still sufferin' from shell shock. A toy balloon busted in the lobby o' the the-ater an' she lost her memory. Bob Purviance, chain grocery collector, is cockeyed from lookin' in revolvers. Mrs. Lefe Bud thought she heard a burglar an' got out o' bed an' sure enough she got her legs filled with shot. Ever' once in a while I miss a familiar figure an' find out that her folks sent her for some bread or soap chips early in May an' have never seen her since. Joe Pine county lake dragger, hasn't had a vacation fer two years. Nearly ever'body park their car under a lamp post fer to go in their garages after 7 p.m. Mrs. Ike Lark who swallowed her dinner ring before venturin' in her home a few nights ago, will go under the knife today. Jesse James an' Billy the Kid never used to kill anybody unless they wuz pursued an' trapped, an' even Jack Dalton wuz allus slow to kill a woman, but the nifty lookin' young white-collar bandit o' this day an' age don't think no more o' human life than he does a German silver huntin' cose watch.

ROAMING

With Richards
Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Hardly necessary to mention where the roaming was done Friday evening. You and I were at the same place, out at Franklin field, and customers we had a lot of fun. It was the first time I ever saw night football game and probably your first venture, and I hope you liked it.

Did you get your car bumped? The lucky ones didn't but what a lot of the fairs are nursing fenders today with a delicate marcel wave in them. The smart thing to do would be to get out about Cassid Park or out on the south end of Long avenue. Smarter than that, would be to walk out to the game and take no chances.

Ralph Gardner wasn't very busy last night. Trying to find him was like trying to find a loose dime in a ton of wheat straw, and everybody who wanted anything was looking for Ralph.

Blankets were seen in profusion but few of them were needed. The night was prime, one of those super-excellent evenings, that were custom built.

With football on Friday night the golfers will get a break for a few weeks, or you can step out to some college game and see two games in a week. For my part an ideal week would be a game every afternoon with one on Friday night and two on Saturday.

Football is an enjoyment with me and the teams don't have to be college stars to make it so. Two kid teams playing on a back lot give me a kick and a game like last night generates a flock of full grown thrills.

Ted Frys was the referee last night, which means that the game was handled efficiently. To my way of thinking Frys is the best football official who has ever worked here and by now he is one of the family. A thorough gentleman, a competent official and a strict disciplinarian he handles the games without a hitch and on Friday night he was ably assisted by three other good ones.

As for the high school band, LaVerne Irvine was right. He said that Joseph Replegie will build a real band here and last night was corroboration of Irve's statement.

Up on North Jefferson street on the west side of the street just below the brow, there is a hole that could be repaired with little trouble but which would save a bad bump for cars. The depression is where the old and new paving meet and heavy trucks going over it jar the folks in houses adjacent.

A couple of dimes worth of brick an hour or so of labor and the difficulty would be straightened out. It would help motorists, would save damage to the paving and would abate an annoyance to the residents.

The folks up there are complaining of it and if Clayton Reeves will see that it is repaired I'll promise to say nothing more about that Laurel avenue traffic light and what I think about that would never be allowed in this column.

Had the pleasure of attending George Smith's party in the Elks Home Friday at noon. Smitty was decorated with the Distinguished Service Cross for extraordinary heroism during the World War and after seeing that service and knowing the facts back of it anybody can be proud of being called a friend of George Smith.

His friends have known him since he came to New Castle about seven years ago, but none of us knew of that stunt he pulled off at Gesnes, France on October 11, 1918. It's all right to be modest; but Smitty seems to have carried it way past the line of modesty.

The ideal arrangement, of course, is the maximum of state rights that won't interfere with federal aid.

50 DEGREES

is more than the mark on a thermometer

TO many people 50 degrees means a mark on a thermometer, but to those who know, it is a blazing signal. At that temperature stands the big dividing line between correct and incorrect refrigeration of food.

A degree or two above fifty and bacteria multiply with speed... foods become contaminated, unsafe to eat. A degree or two below fifty... bacterial growth is checked, foods remain safely fresh.

The General Electric Refrigerator always automatically maintains a temperature several degrees below fifty... without any regulating or attention. It makes all the ice cubes you want, never needs oiling, has an accessible freezing regulator.

The cabinet of the General Electric is all steel, strong, warp-proof and very easy to clean. All the mechanism is in an hermetically sealed steel casing, dust-proof and mounted on top of the cabinet. Come in today and investigate.

There are now more than 300,000 homes enjoying the convenience, economy and protection of General Electric Refrigerators—and not one owner has ever had to spend a single dollar for repairs or service.

We endorse the National Food Preservation Program. 50° is the safety point for perishable foods.
